

THE OPRAH
MAGAZINE

The Best Travel Hair Dryers for Perfect Blowouts Anywhere in the World

By Brigitt Earley | Apr 24, 2019

Weak hotel hair dryers? Who needs 'em.

When you're on vacation, the last thing you want to do is spend time fussing over your hair. But you still want to look great for all those selfies and date nights. The problem? The dryer the hotel provides simply won't do the trick. Leave it where it belongs—in the drawer—and invest in one of the best travel hair dryers instead. Today, there are plenty of first class dryers that are compact enough to fit in that already overcrowded suitcase, but powerful enough to style your hair quickly and with the same precision as a professional blowout.

Check out Blo Blow Dry Bar on Slide 5:

If frizz is your main concern—especially in hot, humid locales—try this foldable travel hair dryer. It blows out negative ions to keep static away from the hair and adds shine, says Becca Raziuddin, hairstylist and corporate educator for Blo Blow Dry Bar. It's also very lightweight, which is beneficial for someone who has a lot of hair and finds themselves holding the dryer for long periods of time. And—bonus—it has an extra-long cord in case there aren't many outlets in the hotel room.

<https://www.oprahmag.com/beauty/hair/g27246038/best-travel-hair-dryers/>